

BUILDING THE RELATIONSHIP WALL

A DOUBLE-SIDED WALL IS BUILT ONE BRICK AT A TIME

- Every time I sin against another person, I put a brick up on my side of the wall.
- Every time someone sins against me, they put a brick on their side of the wall.
- Over time this double-sided wall becomes too high, too wide and too thick to penetrate.
- I no longer know who is on the other side of the wall and I really don't care.

Over time bitterness and resentment create one solid wall.

Original concept by Carl Moellering, Moellering Culture Development

PART ONE: THE GOSPEL AND OUR RELATIONSHIP WITH OTHERS B-12